APIC's Mission: Create a safer world through the prevention of infection

Join Our Team!

The Association for Professionals in Infection Control & Epidemiology (APIC) is the leading professional association for infection preventionists (IPs) with more than 15,000 members in 48 countries.

APIC was founded in 1972 by a pioneering group of infection control nurses who recognized the need for an organized approach to preventing healthcare-associated infection. The majority of APIC members are nurses, physicians, public health professionals, epidemiologists, microbiologists, and medical technologists.

APIC's mission is to create a safer world through the prevention of infection.

APIC leaders believe this is the right time to commit to an uncompromising vision: Healthcare Without Infection.

The Association for Professionals in Infection Control (APIC) Northern New Jersey Chapter was organized in 1976. The chapter currently has over 200 active members. The group is active in collaborating with health and other regulatory agencies, licensed independent practitioners and other health associations not only to improve but also shape infection prevention standards that are guided by scientifically proven, evidence-based practices.

Your experience in this chapter will be educational and collegial. There are many opportunities to network with other professionals representing various facilities and expertise in Infection Prevention within the Northern New Jersey area.

Meetings generally take place on the fourth Wednesday of each month. In addition to networking, meetings are followed by educational sessions with qualified speakers, typically with CEU offerings.

Our annual member luncheon is held in May each year. This is a great way to network with other members in a relaxed atmosphere over delicious food. Also, members can take advantage of the low cost full-day conference held annually in November .
